

4a manufacturing is one of the leading manufacturers of micro sandwich composites for lightweight materials, millimeter wave radomes and acoustic applications, which are used in cell phones, tablets, laptops and many other products.

Charged with ideas that you want to bring to life with us as a

R&D Engineer(m./w./d.)

Your profile

- Technical education (HTL, FH, TU)
- Knowledge in plastics/composites
- Interest in technical challenges
- Precise and structured way of working
- Good team player
- Time-management skills and self-motivated
- Flexible, open-minded and creative way of thinking
- Passion for development of innovative products
- Knowledge in acoustics is an advantage

Scope of tasks:

- Product- and process-development of thin multilayer-composites for acoustic applications
- Perform autonomous development activities
- Production of prototypes and samples
- Planning, execution and evaluation of product and process tests
- Feasibility studies
- Technical support sales team

Beside a friendly and familiar working environment we offer in addition:

flexible working hours

fitness offer

further education

employee events

lunch

more benefits

We are looking forward to your meaningful application!

4a manufacturing GmbH, Industriepark 1, 8772 Traboch, Point of contact: Mrs. Christina Safratmüller BA M.A,
E-Mail: application@4a.at, Tel.: +43 3842/45106-800

We offer a monthly gross salary in line with the market, depending on individual qualifications and professional experience, of at least 3.300 Euro (based on 40 hours per week)